REVOKED A NATURALIZATION

Also Salem Race Track and Other Matters Before U. S. Court

Judge Edgar Aldrich started business in the United States district court this morning immediately on his arrival at the court room in the Federal Building.

The first work after the formal opening of court was the impeachment of the following grand jury: George E. Anderson, Nashua, foreman; William W. Andrews, Dublin; George M. Dean, Manchester; Guy W. Barnard, Newbury; John K. Bates, Portsmouth; J. J. Bolger, Concord; John E. Cotton, Nashua; Emory N. Eaton, Seabrook; Jesse H. Gray, Newfields; Arthur C. Graves, Henniker; George D. Keniston, Rumney; Arthur H. Locke, Portsmouth; Fred A. Moore, Exeter; Caleb D. Marston, Loudon; Roy E. Marston, Concord; Ira W. Rausey, Walpole; George N. Simpson, Littleton; Samuel S. Sawyer, Andover; D. P. Wheeler, Concord.

District Attorney C. W. Holt of Nashua immediately began the work of presenting evidence to the jurors. There were seventeen bound over cases.

The two railroad cases, United States versus Atlantic and St. Lawrence railroad company, and United States versus Boston and Maine railroad, for violations of the law in regard to safety appliances, were continued to June.

The naturalization certificate of Agop O. Hanlian of Nashua was vacated on the ground of fraud in procuring the same. It was issued by the Hillsboro county superior court on June 11, 1907. This is the first instance of the kind in the New Hampshire.

The case of United States versus the schooner Catherine D. Perry of Deer Isle, Me., which was libeled at Portsmouth in December, was set for trial on April 26. The case is on account of damages sustained by the Pollock Rips lightship in a collision.

Henry F. Hollis of Concord, counsel for trustee in bankruptcy for the New England Breeders club presented the opinion of the New Hampshire supreme court and renewed his motion of June 10, 1908, to have the alleged men of Head and Dowst, for construction work at the race track in Salem, N. H., adjudicated in the United States courts. The motion was opposed by George H. Warren of Manchester, counsel for Head and Dowst. The court took the matter under consideration, after expressing an intention to transfer the matter to the United States circuit court of appeals, reserving the question of discretion as well as the legal points.

Shortly before one o'clock a recess was taken till the report of the grand jury should be ready, probably late this afternoon.

Clerk Burna P. Hodgman of Concord and Marshal E. P. Nute of Farmington were busy men this morning. They kept the court business well in hand, and everything moved smoothly.

Among the attorneys present from outside this city were Hon. Walter Scott and Hon. W. H. Roberts of Dover, Hon. E. W. Smith of Woodsville, and Frederic Eaton, Esq., of Boston.

BRING THEM TO PORTSMOUTH

New England Veteran Firemen, A Fair, and City's Sons and Daughters

Portsmouth is now considering three important events for 1910, any of which would be welcome if arrangements to hold the same here can be perfected.

The events which are drawing considerable interest are the New England Veteran Firemen's muster, the agricultural fair and the return of the sons and daughters.

While each event has been talked of to a certain extent, the return of the sons and daughters has taken up more interest than is really known to the people about the city. The fair project also has a large following among the farmers throughout the city and county, and those who first picked this matter up see no reason why Portsmouth cannot produce as good a fair as any of the surrounding country.

With a good strong pull and a little activity on the part of everybody who has the interest of this city at heart there is no reason why one, if not two, of these events cannot come to Portsmouth.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

Town Meeting Voted Money for Centennial

Progress Towards Building a New Grange Hall

Eliot, Me., March 15.

The annual town meeting on Monday voted in favor of having a town centennial celebration during the coming summer. A committee of twenty-five, representing the different sections and the different interests in the town, will be named later, by the town meeting moderator, to have charge of the celebration. Dr. John L. M. Willis is to be chairman of the committee. The meeting also voted to procure State aid for the State road, to leave the question of improvements in the road near Charles L. DeCott's to the proper officers who could attend to the matter from the regular appropriation for highways and bridges, to reopen the school on Bolt Hill, to indefinitely postpone the water proposition, and to exempt the proposed new Grange hall from taxation for ten years. The appropriations are $800 for support of poor, $700 for needed work on Spinney's creek bridge between South Eliot and West Kittery, $1500 for roads and bridges, $400 for State road work, $350 for common schools, $350 for school supplies and books, $600 for school repairs and incidentals, $1000 for high school, $500 for interest, $1000 for debt reduction, $700 for pay of officers, $600 for fighting the brown-tail moths, $300 for snow bills, and $1000 for contingent sum, of which two-fifths is to be used for the centennial celebration. The complete list of officers elected is: Moderator, Samuel Dixon; clerk, Joseph H. Dixon; selectmen, John R. Goodwin, Alfred Spinney, Charles B. Gale; agent, T. F. Staples; collector, Maurice S. Leach; constable, George A. Emery; member of school committee, Willard H. Spinney; road commissioner, Elbridge A. Goodwin; truant officers, Maynard S. Knight, Charles E. Foye; auditor, T. F. Staples; the Republican caucus nominees winning in every case.

The John F. Hill Grange voted at the Monday evening meeting to take the $1000 gift from Ex-Governor Hill and devote it to the purchase of stock in the Grange Hall Building association. This, with the stock held by individual members of the Grange, will give a substantial sum toward the building expenses. It is hoped to hold dedication ceremonies at the time of the town centennial which will probably be in August. The business meeting was followed by entertainment. Charles F. Drake read a paper prepared by Mrs. Drake on "Current Events," Mrs. Cyrus R. Bartlett read a paper prepared by Mr. Bartlett on "Wireless Telegraphy," and Mrs. Leander Plaisted read the "Grange Journal."

Master Theodore Roosevelt Johnson Tobey celebrated his eleventh birthday Monday afternoon by having eleven friends at his home. Games and music were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake, candy, fruit and cocoa. He received many beautiful presents.

The new road commissioner has a big job on his hands, for the winter has put the roads generally in bad shape.

Samuel Dixon states that it will be several days before the personnel of the town centennial committee can be announced. Mr. Dixon, being moderator of the annual town meeting, was charged with the duty of selecting this committee, except the chairman, whom the meeting named in the person of Dr. Willis. The first suggestion of a celebration is credited to Calvin H. Staples who also presented the matter at the town meeting on Monday. There have been a great many suggestions made which will give the committee a plenty to think about. President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard University, a descendant of Rev. John Eliot, the missionary, for whom the town was named, has been mentioned as a desirable man for the centennial orator. Ex-Governor John F. Hill of Augusta, a native of this town, has been suggested for some important place on centennial day. If President Taft is at that time at his summer home in Beverly, Mass., all would like to see him the special guest of the occasion. These are only a few of the many ideas that have been advanced for the occasion since Mr. Staples started the movement.

WAS TEMPORARILY INSANE

Had Suffered From Melancholia Because He Feared He Would Die Poor and Sons Would Be Deprived of College Education—Older Boy Struggles in Vain For Life—Death Instantaneous in Each Case

New York, March 15.—Temporary insanity is attributed as the cause of Herman H. Moritz, aged 45, a wealthy real estate operator, shooting and killing his two sons at their home in the Bronx, then setting fire to the building and killing himself.

The boys, George, 16 years old, who until two weeks ago was a student in the Bardonia military academy of New Jersey, and Walter, 12 years old, a high school pupil, were evidently killed instantly. Walter was shot through the heart. George had been shot twice. He had evidently made a struggle for his life.

Mrs. Moritz, Moritz's second wife, was not at home at the time of the tragedy. "Herman must have gone insane from melancholia," she said. "He had suffered from it so long. He had notions that he would die poor and that his sons would be deprived of the college education he wished to give them. Lately he seemed rational again and we thought his brooding and attacks of melancholia were over."

According to the accounts of the tragedy Moritz was seemingly in splendid spirits and reading when he suddenly threw his book aside and drew a revolver. He immediately pointed his sons and started firing the fatal shots.

The first information neighbors had that anything was wrong in the brilliantly lighted residence was when the maid ran bareheaded into the street screaming "murder!" Persons who ran to the house saw smoke coming from one of the windows. They, with policemen and firemen, entered the house, and in the hallway on the first floor stumbled across the body of the father.

He had shot himself in the head and still held the revolver. Directed by the maid, the crowd ran down stairs where, under a stairway in the basement, they found fire. This was put out. Half a dozen feet away lay Walter Moritz, shot through the heart.

The body of his elder brother was found in a front room on the second floor. He had been shot twice, once in the heart and once in the right temple. In the room were signs of a struggle. The maid said that before she fled from the house she had heard the sounds of shots in the upper room, had heard the elder son fall and had then seen Moritz pursue his younger son to the basement from the room in which the other boy had been killed.

BEATEN WITH A SAW

Laborer Has His Head Badly Lacerated by a Companion

Melrose, Mass., March 15.—During a drunken brawl in the kitchen of the three-room building which they jointly occupy, Fred Griffin, aged 38, a laborer, is alleged to have brutally beaten John McDonald, aged 40, also a laborer, over the head with the blunt edge of a saw.

A teamster heard the men fighting, and jumping from his wagon rushed into the building to investigate. He found McDonald lying in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor. Griffin was standing over the prostrate body. McDonald's injuries are more painful than serious. The police are looking for Griffin.

ROOSEVELT AT KHARTOUM

Meets His Wife and Daughter on the Border of Civilization

Khartoum, March 15.—Theodore Roosevelt and his party arrived here at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The former President of the United States received a most flattering reception. Upon the pier Roosevelt was pressed by an enormous and enthusiastic crowd, but his escort saved him from any possible discomfort. He was at once escorted to the palace of the sirdar, at the steps of which he was received by the high Sudan officials. The stay at the palace was brief, Roosevelt hurrying away to the railroad station to meet Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel Roosevelt. Colonel Roosevelt arrived at the station in time to meet his wife and daughter upon their arrival. His family reunion after a year's separation was in strict privacy. In the station room were only Theodore and Edith Roosevelt, and their son and daughter, Kermit and Ethel. After a few moments of seclusion a very happy appearing family emerged from the station and proceeded to the palace. Last evening no one was permitted to disturb the privacy of the Roosevelts.

COAST CANAL ENDORSED

Money For Fall River Harbor Asked For as a Starter

Washington, March 15.—A comprehensive scheme for improvement of the harbor of Fall River, Mass., in connection with traffic with New York and possible ultimate traffic by inter-coastal waterway between Boston, Narragansett Bay, Long Island sound and Beaufort, N. C., is involved in a recommendation made to congress by the war department.

The department recommends an appropriation of $143,000 for deepening the harbor, besides the present improvements, with an annual maintenance estimated at $6000.

The engineer's report, which is merely transmitted, says that if the proposed Boston-Beaufort waterway is built Fall River will be the important southern terminus of the link connecting Boston and Narragansett Bay.

BREACH OF PROMISE VERDICT OF $43,500

Miss Orr's Child Proves to Be Chief Factor in the Case

Boston, March 15.—The jury returned a verdict of $43,500 in the breach of promise suit of Marion Orr against William Wood of Portland, Me. For the assault $1000 was allowed; for the loss of her services to her father, $2500 damages; for breach of promise to marry, $40,000.

This is the largest verdict ever awarded in Suffolk county in a similar suit. Miss Orr sued for $50,000 and her father $10,000 for loss of services.

The chief factor in the case was the presence in the courtroom of the golden haired child of the defendant. There were tears in the eyes of all when Miss Orr's counsel in scathing terms denounced Wood for the wrong he had done the girl and his desertion of her at the end of their relations.

RUNS AMUCK IN STREETS

Greek Creates a Small-Sized Panic In Amesbury

Trouble Begins With Fight With a Youth In Which Greek Was Getting the Worst of It—Summons Friends Concealed Nearby and Fierce Battle Ensues—Crowd Talks of Lynching at End of Row

Amesbury, Mass., March 15.—George Smith, employed in the Hamilton woolen mills, ran amuck through the principal square of this town last night and after an attempt to shoot up the town was saved from the hands of an infuriated mob by the timely arrival of the police.

Michael Roach, aged 55, is dangerously wounded as a result, and Frank Smith, aged 20, and John Jennelle, aged 18, received minor wounds. Frank Smith and Jennelle owe their lives to George Smith's poor aim, as he fired point blank at both of them.

About 7 o'clock Jennelle was walking down Main street, when he was accosted by three young Greeks. Among them was Smith, who asked Jennelle to go down near the Boston and Maine railroad depot and fight out a score they had to settle.

Jennelle agreed, and accompanied by the Greek's companions as witnesses, began the fight. He was getting the best of the argument when Smith, blowing a shrill whistle on his fingers, called about fifteen other countrymen to his aid.

From the top of the railroad bridge, where they had concealed themselves, they dashed down, brandishing clubs. Some of Jennelle's acquaintances, seeing the odds against him, joined in to help him out.

A free fight ensued and the Greeks were getting the worst of it, when Smith, whipping a revolver from his pocket, blazed away at Jennelle. Missing his aim, he broke away from the now infuriated crowd and ran through Market square, shooting as he ran. Every few yards he blazed indiscriminately into the crowds that lined the sidewalks.

Women fled in panic into open store doorways and hallways, screaming and fainting with fear. The panic spread the length of Friend street, up which the Greek ran, shooting as he ran.

Close at his heels a mob of men and boys, numbering over 500, chased as close to him as they dared. When the Greek was turning into Friend street he blazed away, one bullet grazing the forehead of Michael Roach and inflicting an ugly wound.

The Greek, running for the shelter of a Greek restaurant on Friend street, was overtaken by Frank Smith, who grabbed him around the neck, and in the struggle received an ugly cut under the ear.

In the meantime the crowd had surrounded the Greek and were crying out: "Get a rope and lynch him," when Chief of Police Ryan and a detail of police charged the crowd and arrested the Greek. The officers had great difficulty in restraining the crowd from mob violence, but finally succeeded in getting the Greek to the police station under guard.

Then the officers made a raid on a boarding house on Clark's court and made several other arrests.

PAYS DEATH PENALTY

Schlieman, In Death Chair Statement, Protests Innocence of Murder

Ossining, N. Y., March 15.—Protesting to the last his innocence of the crime of murder, Frank Schlieman, one of the two men found guilty of the killing of Mrs. Sophie L. Staber, in Brooklyn, was put to death in the chair at Sing Sing prison.

While being strapped into the chair Schlieman looked at the witnesses, who stood in a semicircle, and then said slowly:

"I hope, gentlemen, you will all forgive me for my mistake. I realize mine now. I die for burglary only. I never took a human life. I die with a clear conscience. Goodbye, all."

Schlieman escaped from Sing Sing prison on Dec. 8, 1908, while serving a term for burglary. It was supposed that he had fled from the country until he was arrested in Brooklyn after the murder of Mrs. Staber. He is the second man to be electrocuted for the murder of Mrs. Staber. The first, Carlo Giro, executed his crime in the chair on Feb. 23.

NO AGGRESSIVE ACTION

Prince Henry Points Out That Great Britain Is Germany's Friend

Hamburg, March 15.—Addressing the East Asiatic society, Prince Henry of Prussia said that as a result of his visit to England he could assure them that Great Britain offered to Germany an honorable and sincere friendship.

The idea of aggressive action, he added, was completely absent from the minds of those in the British government. That, however, rested on reciprocity, and nothing must be omitted that might serve to strengthen the confidence of the two nations in each other.

The old saying, "confidence begets confidence," he continued, was here applicable. He could answer for the friendly feelings of the naval officers, but the merchants had a similar duty to discharge, just as much as his military comrades.

SAW MUST BE USED ON TWO EXTRA RIBS

They Have Caused Young Man to Suffer For Many Years

Los Angeles, March 15.—Thornton Green, 21 years old, has been suffering for years from a constant fever, and his physician has just discovered the cause—two extra and unnecessary ribs.

According to members of the Los Angeles Medical association, Green's case is something new in medical annals, and it is asserted that Green will have to undergo an operation for the removal of the ribs if he wants to avoid sweating to death.

The extra ribs begin at the cervical vertebrae and curve downward, crossing the natural ribs down to the fourth. He suffers constant pain, and his lack of shoulder development, the doctor asserts, is due to the presence of the extra ribs.

Opposition to Hughes and His Measures Must Cease

REPUBLICANS IN DANGER

Taft and His Friends Said to Be Setting Stage For National Campaign of 1912—Fears That Party Split Will Give Empire State to Democrats Next November—Cobb's Election Has Strengthened Woodruff

New York, March 15.—With the departure of Senator Elihu Root for Washington to inform President Taft of the result of his conferences with Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the Republican state committee, and the local leaders on the question of Woodruff's retirement from the chairmanship, looms a political situation which, in its larger meaning, bears directly not only on the coming state campaign next fall, but on the national campaign of 1912.

The administration, through Root, has made it clear to those now in the party's leadership in this state that New York must not be lost by the Republicans in the gubernatorial election, for such defeat would endanger the party's success two years later. To this end Root informed Woodruff that the opposition to Governor Hughes and his measures must cease, and the delicate suggestion is said to have been made that the federal power would be used to thwart such opposition if it continued.

Whether Root sought to force Woodruff from the state chairmanship as an initial step to remove from party control the so-called "machine" leaders is the subject of much conjecture at state headquarters. "I am still here," said Woodruff, and then made it evident that he would at least continue as chairman until the end of his term.

"There's much more than the chairmanship of the state committee involved in this matter," said an upstate leader. "President Taft and his friends are setting the stage for the national campaign of 1912 and the administration feels that unless the present state organization joins with Governor Hughes a party split will follow that will give the state to the Democrats next November and seriously jeopardize the Republicans' chance of capturing New York's thirty-blue electoral votes for their presidential nominee."

Woodruff will remain chairman and the opposition to Governor Hughes will in a large measure cease so that no split may occur. If the Root plan is carried out, but the election of Senator Cobb as president pro tem of the state senate has so strengthened the hands of Woodruff and his friends in the organization that they may elect to advance such legislation as they please at Albany, and so doing, will split the party wide open. In that event our hopes lie in Theodore Roosevelt, who will be asked to assume the leadership of his party, and his return is only three months away."

The Woodruff adherents assert that the main efforts of the administration in the present situation contemplate an invasion of the right of state political control. Root is said to have insisted that if Senator Aldis is guilty he must go, and Woodruff made it plain that the organization would let matters take their course.

Kills Sister-in-Law and Self

Buffalo, March 15.—Mrs. Jacob Conrad, aged 30, a widow, was shot and instantly killed by John Conrad, her brother-in-law. Conrad then shot himself, dying instantly. The shooting is said to have been the result of the woman's indifference to the attentions of her brother-in-law.

DEATH OF ANGLES SNELL

Was Serving Life Sentence After Escaping the Death Chair

Boston, March 15.—Saved from the death chair by the clemency of former Governor Douglas, Angles Snell, convicted of the murder of William H. Kirby, Jr. at Haverock, near New Bedford, in September, 1903, dropped from the line of marching prisoners at the Charlestown state prison and died within a few minutes.

Snell was 69 years of age. When Douglas snatched him from the shadow of the electric chair near the end of 1904 he was sent to prison for life.

The Kirby killing was a strange tragedy of the sea and Snell was convicted on circumstantial evidence. Kirby was 87, but vigorous because of his life on the water. He went fighting in a green "sharpie."

Snell went fishing also. He went in a white "sharpie." Kirby never returned. He was known to have had plenty of money before he went out in his boat. After the murder Snell, who had never been known to have much money, displayed a suspicious amount. Testimony was introduced to show that a white "sharpie" and a green "sharpie" were seen close together on the day Kirby disappeared.

GAIN FOR DEMOCRATS

They Retake Augusta in Municipal Elections in Maine

Portland, Me., March 15.—The Democrats rather had the best of it in the elections Monday in five Maine cities. They retained control of Belfast and Biddeford, recaptured Augusta and in Bangor reduced Mayor Woodman's plurality from 816 last year to 272 and gained one alderman and four councilmen. Bangor, however, as well as Brewer, continues in the Republican column.

Mayors elected and complexion of city governments follow:

City	Mayor	Government
Augusta, Plinist (D.)	Dem.
Biddeford, Marcelle (D.)	Dem.
Belfast, Hanson (D.)	Dem.
Bangor, Woodman (R.)	Rep.
Brewer, Pendleton (R.)	Rep.

Union Leader and Transit Official Meet In Conference

Philadelphia, March 15.—The first step taken by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company toward settling the dispute with its striking employees, and incidentally ending the "sympathetic strike" which has now been in progress for ten days, was taken last evening when President Kruger of the rapid transit company conferred with W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees.

The meeting of the labor leader and the rapid transit official was the result of outside influences and it is the first time officials of the company have dealt directly with any national officer of the street car men's union.

PAULHAN'S COMPLAINT

Financial arrangements do not please him; the Wright suit is another bother. He began disassembling his machines yesterday afternoon, but efforts are being made by his manager to adjust matters.

MIDSHIPMEN'S COMMISSIONS

The Army and Navy Register publishes the following: "The House naval committee will report favorably the Bates bill providing that midshipmen shall be commissioned as ensigns upon graduation at the Naval Academy after four years instruction at that institution. The navy department has endorsed the measure. The pending legislation will probably be amended so as to include members of the two classes of midshipmen now at sea, giving them pay from the date they are commissioned, but providing no back pay. It is understood that the Senate naval committee is not in favor of this legislation and opposition at that end if Capitol may serve to defeat the purpose of the Bates bill."

The midshipman at present does not get a fair show in the matter of retirement, and the above paragraph indirectly calls attention to this fact. Though bound to duty as an officer, he may in the line of duty be crippled for life or become an invalid and be could merely get an honorable discharge, because not commissioned as an officer.

At least the midshipmen who are ordered to duty at sea should be commissioned and receive the right of retirement if permanently disabled. Congress should see the injustice in the present situation and remedy it at once.

BIRDS EYE VIEWS

The never-to-be-forgotten tragedy of the sea—the sinking of the steamer Portland, with all on board, somewhere off the New England coast in the winter of 1885, was vividly recalled on Sunday when a life preserver that had apparently been on the Portland was picked up on Pleasant beach at Cohasset, Mass. The life preserver was in fairly good condition considering the fact that it has probably been in the water twelve years. Although the letter was well washed, the word "Portland" was plainly discernible as was the stamp of the government inspector.

Again the old maxim holds that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Some legislation for the prevention of such labor conflicts is urgently needed. New Zealand already has in force an arbitration act to protect the public against strikes, to compel capitalists and laborers in quasi-public industries to submit to an arbitration court all differences which cannot be settled by mutual agreement. In Canada, the industrial disputes act, which provides for compulsory investigation, but not for enforced arbitration, has demonstrated its value as a partial preventative of strikes. The latter is less drastic than the former and may offer a feasible step toward the solution of the strike problem in this country.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

The White Mountain Reserve When Philip W. Ayres, the eminent authority on forestry, is willing to venture the prophecy that "unless public ownership steps in our timber lands are doomed to succumb to that devastating human force which centuries ago transformed richly wooded Palestine into a barren desert," his warning should not fall on deaf ears in Washington, and should aid in passing the bill introduced by Congressman Weeks to establish national forests on forested watersheds. There is a lesson for America not only in Palestine but also in China and in Spain.—Boston Globe.

King Edward's Status

King Edward, in verbal theory, is almost as absolute as his all-conquering ancestor William the Norman. He is still, in theory, the executive head of the nation, governing through secretaries and ministers, like the secretary of state for war or foreign affairs, or the home secretary. The very name of minister implies that they are the king's men. All acts of the ministry are, in theory, the king's acts. Similarly the king is the fountain of justice throughout the realm. Every criminal trial is, in theory, a suit between "our sovereign lord the king and the prisoner at the bar." And, finally, in the king resides the sanction of all legislation. It is in receiving the king's signature that a bill is transmuted into an act and becomes law.

Thus much in verbal theory. In reality, the king, though now powerless to do ought against the nation, is very powerful in union with the nation. He symbolizes its life and continuity, holds the balance between contending houses and parties, and stands at the head of the nation's social life. He is the chief of an aristocracy which has done much for the cultured life of mankind, evolving an ideal of urbane and gracious life, founded on service to the realm.—Harper's Weekly.

Frohman's Repertoire Theatre

In the Repertoire Theatre which he is testing in London and which he intends to duplicate at his Empire Theatre in this city next year, Charles Frohman has hit upon a new idea which promises to benefit his patrons as much as his box office.

The Repertoire Theatre is probably the result of that intense competition, the inevitable consequence of an oversupply of playhouses in New York and London, which has made dramatic production one of the most hazardous of callings. It is a compromise between the stock company system of the days of Wallack's and the old Union Square, now outmoded, and the present practice of forcing long "runs" of plays.

For New York it will afford a permanent company recruited from the Frohman dramatic organizations and will assure a stage on which there will be semi-weekly changes of plays irrespective of their power to crowd the theatre. For the actors it will afford an opportunity to appear in a variety of characters. For the dramatists it will open a greater market for their plays.

Mr. Frohman promises that the Repertoire Theatre will foster drama indigenous to our own soil. The London project places its emphasis upon the English plays. Its New York duplicate will give preference to plays dealing with the problems of American life.

Mr. Frohman will be able consistently to present each year a number of English classics, for we are joint heirs of the Elizabethan and Georgian dramatic poets and comedy writers. But his principal purpose will be to produce dramas of contemporary life.—New York World.

WHAT DOVER WILL DO

Program for Entertainment of Warwick Next Sunday

The Warwick club of Portsmouth will be entertained by the Bellamy club at the latter's headquarters in this city next Thursday afternoon and evening, and arrangements have been completed for a first class time. The day's program will include bowling, billiard, pool, whist, pitch and checker matches. A banquet will be served in the club rooms at six o'clock under the direction of caterer Simpson. The down river boys will arrive here on the 12.40 train and will be taken to the club rooms where lunch will be served and a short time spent socially. During the afternoon the bowling, checker and a part of the billiard and pool matches will be played. There will be two bowling teams and the Arcade and Hobbs' alleys will be used. In the evening, following the banquet the remaining billiard and pool games and the whist and pitch games will be played. The visitors have chartered a special electric car to take them home, which will leave this city at eleven o'clock.

The make-up of the different teams from the Bellamy club will probably be about the same as those representing the club at the meet in Portsmouth last month. At that time the local club lost the meet by one point and they will try hard next Thursday to at least make matters even.—Dover Democrat.

A TIMELY TOPIC.

BY DAVID BREWER
Of the United States Supreme Court

The Trials of Woman Suffrage

BUT putting all the arguments, pro and con together, whatever may be the abstract right, the real question is a practical one. How does woman's suffrage work when tried? In this nation four states, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and Idaho, have granted full suffrage, and in at least the first three of them it has been in existence long enough for substantial results. The conditions of life in them differ, and doubtless that difference may affect the full significance of the results. One thing is true of all. There has been no organized effort to repeal the grant. Whatever may be isolated opinions, the general mass of the voters are satisfied. Indeed, few have expressed antagonistic views. A short time since the papers reported an interview with the late governor of Colorado, in which he declared woman suffrage a failure, but he promptly denied any such interview. If the citizens of these states find nothing objectionable in woman's suffrage, a natural conclusion is that no injury has resulted therefrom. While it may be said that a general belief in the impossibility of revoking the grant may have prevented any organized effort in that direction, yet certainly the men and women in those states are not so timid as to fear giving expression to their views, and we should have heard such expression and the reasons therefor. It is true that this silence may be somewhat in the nature of negative testimony, but it is not without weight. Especially is this true when the declarations of its friends in its favor are many and strong. Doubtless some opposition may come from personal ambition and expectation defeated by the action of the women voters. Thus Judge Lindsay, of the juvenile court in Denver, who has attracted much attention by his good work in that court, after having been denied a re-nomination by each of the great political parties, came out as an independent candidate and was elected, mainly, it is said, by the votes of women who appreciated his labors and determined that the young culprits of that city should not be deprived of the benefit of his judgment and experience. It would be strange if the defeated candidates did not feel and express themselves against woman's suffrage. But their complaint is really testimony to its value.

OIL FUEL FOR NAVY

The United States Keeps up with the Times

Washington, March 15.—American naval authorities are not found asleep by the report that Great Britain has decided to adopt oil as fuel. The keen competition between the two navies is to continue, and naval officers say that the real test will be found in the development of oil fuel as an agent of increased steaming efficiency and greater speed.

Realizing the tremendous advantage which the American oil fields offer to the United States, naval officers say the time has come to take advantage of the situation. Oil fuel for war ships is here to stay, according to these officers, and carefully conducted experiments covering several years are to be put to use in the future, while practically every ship is now constructed so that its machinery can be converted to accommodate oil fuel at practically no expense.

All of the new battleships are to have oil tanks, Secretary Meyer explained, while the destroyers will be propelled entirely by oil fuel. The excellent results obtained in the speed trials of the Delaware and the North Dakota when oil was used in connection with coal was one of the most convincing arguments in favor of the present plans. The Delaware made the remarkable speed of 21.662 knots and the North Dakota made 21.8 knots at their recent speed trials.

These ships carried 400 tons of oil. In addition to their bunker supply of coal. When the time came for making speed the oil fuel primed the fires and sent the ships along at a uniform high speed, which probably could not have been gotten with coal alone. Even the most pessimistic of the engineering experts went so far as to say that these ships could not have made the records as easily without oil fuel, even if they could have equalled the speed records at all.

The United States now has six battleships using oil fuel in connection with coal, one monitor using oil exclusively and fifteen torpedo boat destroyers similarly equipped, counting ships already built, authorized and under construction. The battleships are the North Dakota, the Delaware, the Utah, the Florida, the Wyoming and the Arkansas. The monitor Cheyenne uses oil fuel entirely. The list of torpedo boat destroyers includes the Trippe, the Ammen, the Perkins, the Sterrett, the Warrington, the Mayrant, the Walke, the Patterson, the Dryton, the Roe, the Terry, the McCall, the Burrows and the Monaghan.

Secretary Meyer is convinced that the experiments demonstrating the value of oil fuel should be continued. Furthermore, he has ordered additional oil stations established to make the supply accessible.

"I am thoroughly convinced of the value of oil fuel," Mr. Meyer said. "I had intended asking congress for an oil tank ship to be used with the fleet. This ship would have been decidedly advantageous, I believe. It was only the necessity of cutting the estimates this year that made me strike it from the program of naval increase."

Experts at the navy department said the disadvantages of oil fuel were naturally a lesser degree of safety from hostile shells, a difficulty in getting the oil supply and the lack of the protection which coal itself affords in the vitals of the ship. But it was made clear that the advantages of oil fuel far outweighed the disadvantages.

A battleship, for instance, by carrying a supply of oil fuel is ready at a moment's notice to get up an emergency speed by adding the oil to the facts in addition to the coal.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IN CANADA

Church Wants Recognition and Right to Hold Property

Ottawa, Ont., March 15.—The Christian Scientists of Montreal will renew their fight for the right to own property and for recognition as a religious and moral body, which the Quebec provincial government has been unwilling to grant, it has refused to allow them a charter which is the only means by which they may hold real estate in Canada.

The large proportion of Catholics in the Legislative Assembly refused last session to consider the body as a religious sect and threw out summarily "a bill to incorporate the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Westmount, Montreal," after the bill had been passed by the lower house.

MATERNITY'S WAIL

Alas! my darling little one
From me by death is taken
To sleep the eternal sleep alone
That nothing can awaken.
I grieve—but though to grief I bow
It is a vain endeavor;
The sable tyrant has him now
"Forever and forever!"

I know 'twill nought avail to weep—
Alas! 'tis futile only—
But since my baby went to sleep
My poor heart is so lonely!
We know not how we love till those
For whom 'tis cherished sever
The bonds to sleep death's calm repose
"Forever and forever!"

Then we our very souls do learn
Were 'e'en in the safe keeping
Of the departed, till we yearn
To be where there's no weeping.
Too soon, alas, too soon, the blight
Of death my rose did sever
"To waste its perfume" on the night
Of the long, long forever.
—J. E. Moore.

WANTS BIG BATTLESHIPS

The Navy League Has Endorsed Two Dreadnought Program

Washington, March 15.—The Navy League of the United States, of which Horace Porter, a former ambassador to France, is president, is throwing the weight of its influence in favor of the administration program for two new battleships. Members of the league in many states are urging their congressmen to support the naval appropriation bill.

In a formal statement the league argues that "at a moment when we are losing or have lost to Germany our second place among the navies of the world, and at a moment when there is much discussion some of which may be ill-advised of our relations with Japan, it is exceedingly unfortunate that there should be any hesitation regarding a program on which the country has been led to depend, and on which it has a right to depend. It will be many years before the Monroe doctrine, the 'open door' in Manchuria and other world questions will be decided without the naval strength of our country being a factor."

Former Secretary of the Navy Truman H. Newberry is vice president of the league, and J. P. Morgan, Jr. is treasurer.

WOULD RETIRE TWO

Rear Admiral Nazro and Lieutenant F. L. Sandoz of the Navy

Washington, March 15.—The retiring board of the navy by an unanimous vote has recommended the retirement of Rear Admiral Arthur P. Nazro, who is now making his home at Jamaica Plain, Mass.

His retirement is practically due to his failure to take the prescribed walking or riding test while in command of the naval station at Cavite, owing to ill health.

The same board also asks the retirement of Lieutenant F. L. Sandoz, who has been under treatment at Washington.

NOT FROM TUG PORTLAND

Wreckage at Hull Undoubtedly From Foundered Steamer

Boston, March 15.—It is the general opinion in steamship circles here that the wreckage which washed ashore on the beach at Hull is from the steamer Portland, which foundered during the blizzard in November, 1893. That the wreckage came from the tug Portland is considered entirely improbable.

The tug sank off York Harbor last December and was raised Dec. 23, practically intact, by Capt. Alfred Sorenson. She was taken to Portland and repaired and she is again in commission at that port.

BILLY THE BOY ARTIST

Presented for First Time at Music Hall to Big House.

One of the biggest houses of the season greeted the first production of "Billy, the Boy Artist," at Music Hall on Monday evening, and the entire show gave general satisfaction. The pictures from which the show gets its name, are so familiar to everybody, and the fact that it was to be staged and for the first time in this city, was sufficient to attract an audience that packed the house.

The show is a musical comedy worked up about the pranks of Billy, the Artist, and his bunch of victims, including Prof. O. Howe Wise, Prof. J. B. Schmart, Clarence Chumpley, Hen Perham and the others. They were all there in life and they were all well cast in their parts and backed up by an attractive and tuneful chorus of young girls, well costumed.

Billy, the Boy Artist, was of course the leading part, and it was well presented by Frankie Grace, who in addition to being handy with his brush could sing and act as well. He had a lot of work and did it well.

Prof. O. Howe Wise, taken by James V. Rennie, and Prof. J. B. Schmart, taken by Jack Cleary, were good in their part and furnished the greater part of the comedy with their famous books of what to do, Clarence Chumpley, the fashionable photographer was well done by William C. Sears, and Ralph Shield as Count de Chicane, was the typical villain. William Grace as Hen Perham, the country sport, was the real goods and his song and dance with Jane was one of the hits of the show.

In the female roles Gertrude Huntington was exceptionally clever as Aunt Abby and Maud Parker was good as Maud Goldington. Ethel Nelson as Pansy Blossom, is a clever and graceful dancer. Marion Allen as Jane from the country was good and she could both sing and dance.

For the first production the show went along remarkably well and while of course there was some little things that will be smoothed out, there is very little that will demand extra rehearsal.

There were many clever musical numbers, some exceptionally tuneful and catchy and well worked up. Wading by Maud and the summer boarders, was one of the best numbers and "Getting Our Pictures Took," by Hen and Jane, and "Artists in their Line," by Billy, Wise and Schmart were some of the best.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Billy, the Boy Artist... Frankie Grace

PEARY'S CASE

Englebright Fortified by Data, Demands Honor for Explorer

Washington, March 16.—Representative Englebright, Republican, of California, the only member of the House naval committee who favored bestowing congressional honors upon Commander Peary, without an inspection of the explorer's proofs, does not intend to let the matter rest where it is.

He says he will force the committee to vote definitely for or against a Peary award, if he can. The various bills for that purpose are still before the committee.

Mr. Englebright has, by a thorough search of the records, found interesting data concerning the speed which can be made in Arctic travel. The principal point made against Mr. Peary in the committee is that he could not have made the speed he declares he did in his final dash to the Pole. The speed was 20 miles a day in the journey to the pole and 50 miles a day on his return trip.

A. D. Nash, a former government mail carrier in Alaska, is quoted by Mr. Englebright as making a 1400-mile trip from Dawson to Nome with dogs and sledge in 26 days, or 54 miles a day.

An average of 121 miles per day is said to have been made by the winning dog team in the race of the Nome Kennel club of Alaska over a 412 mile course, the full time being 82 hours and two minutes.

CONFESSED FIVE MURDERS

Boston, March 14.—By his own confession made public today, Angles Snell, sixty-nine years old, who dropped dead yesterday in Charlestown prison, murdered at least five persons in and about Westport on the South Shore.

This confession clears up the mystery of the slaying of Tillinghast Kirby, an aged well to do carpenter, and of the fate of four other men who disappeared suddenly and were never seen again. It makes Snell's the blackest record crime known to New England.

Snell made his admission to a jailer at New Bedford and his sudden death led to the startling revelations of wholesale murder that lurked in "Death Cave," Snell's gruesome retreat near Westport.

Here are some of the crimes which he confessed:

Killing Tillinghast Kirby, a carpenter; Philip Cornell, an aged hermit; two strange visitors at Westport, who appeared to be well to do, and a Portuguese laborer who employed him. These murders were committed for the purpose of robbery.

Commanded a piratical fleet in Alaskan waters and committed numerous depredations.

Burned a South Framingham hotel man's barn for revenge.

Wholesale liquor law violations, running a "blind tiger" in his cave near Westport.

WANTS UNIFORM RESPECTED

Bill Directed at Theatre Managers Offered in the Senate

Washington, March 15.—Further steps looking to protection for those wearing the uniform of the army, navy and marine corps were taken when Senator Chamberlain of Oregon introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor for those keeping places of amusement to refuse admission to those in the service.

The bill follows the lines of the measure offered in the House Saturday by Representative Hobson. Its provisions would be applicable only to the Territories and the District of Columbia. Any discrimination against men wearing uniforms of the service is made punishable by a fine not exceeding $100, imprisonment for not more than two years or both.

MARINES TO QUIT NICARAGUA

Withdrawal Has No Bearing on Political Situation

Washington, March 15.—The United States marines, whose headquarters are in Panama, but some time ago taken by the auxiliary cruiser Buffalo, to the vicinity of Corinto, Nicaragua, to protect American interests, have been ordered back to Panama.

The navy department, for sanitary reasons and to enable the Buffalo to resume its regular duties, has for some time desired to issue this order.

As there is now no fighting in western Nicaragua the state department has consented to the withdrawal of the marines. This action is authoritatively stated, has no bearing upon the question of recognition of either faction in Nicaragua.

TEST NEW WAR ENGINE

Government Will Try Out Sub-Surface Torpedo Boat

Washington, March 15.—An official test of the sub-surface torpedo boat, a new type of war vessel provided for by Congress in the Naval appropriation act of last year, will be made by the government at Boston within a few days.

The boat has been designed to be immune from the small gun fire now relied upon as a protection against ordinary torpedo boats. It consists of a submarine hull, which contains all the machinery and torpedo armament suspended from an unsinkable surface hull divided into compartments packed with cellulose. It has made 22 knots an hour in preliminary trials. It cost $22,500.

COMPULSORY WIRELESS

Advocated for All Vessels of the United States Navy

Washington, March 15.—Representative O'Connell had a hearing Monday before a subcommittee of the house committee on naval affairs upon his bill requiring all government vessels which sail out of sight of land to be equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus. Some members of the committee think the bill too drastic, as it allows only 60 days to complete the equipment of vessels. It is said that funds are not available for this purpose.

Representative Roberts, a member of the subcommittee, said the bill will be referred to the war, navy and treasury and commerce and labor departments with requests for information as to what ships have wireless equipment in the army transport service, navy, revenue cutter service, fisheries bureau and coast survey. Mr. Roberts says that about 100 out of 260 large naval vessels have wireless equipment, that the revenue cutter service is well equipped, and that a fair proportion of other government vessels have wireless equipment.

BIRTHPLACE OF DANIEL WEBSTER

Franklin, March 15.—The Franklin board of trade on Monday night took a step in favor of the permanent conservation of the birthplace of Daniel Webster. A resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of nine citizens of Franklin and vicinity to consider a plan was adopted unanimously.

Dr. J. W. Staples, president of the board of trade, will name the committee later. The property came into the hands of the Franklin building and loan association a few days ago on foreclosure of a mortgage. President E. G. Leach of the association brought the matter before the board of trade last night.

ARGUMENTS MADE IN STANDARD OIL

Great Interest Taken in the Fight of the Big Trust—Supreme Court Room Crowded.

Washington, March 13.—Found by the lower federal court to be a combination in restraint of trade and monopoly of a branch of interstate commerce, the Standard oil company of New Jersey appeared at the bar of the supreme court of the United States, Monday, for final argument against the dissolution under the Sherman antitrust law. The department of justice of the U. S. government was present to insist on the decree of enforcement of the dissolution.

The proceedings before the highest tribunal of the country is the outgrowth of years of investigation of the Standard oil company on the part of the government. Its immediate origin was a petition filed in 1906 by the department of justice of the U. S. circuit court for the eastern district of Missouri, asking for the dissolution of the Standard oil company of New Jersey as violating the Sherman antitrust act.

Testimony was taken in St. Louis and in New York in the case, John D. Rockefeller himself being a witness. Four judges, who had been called in to pass on the case, finally announced a decree, granting substantially all that the government had asked. It is from this decree that the counsel for the Standard oil company

Only eight judges will participate in the consideration of the case. When Chief Justice Fuller asked the counsel to proceed, this afternoon the chair of Justice Moody on the extreme right was vacant. He is suffering from rheumatism and has not been able to attend any sittings of the court this term.

Every seat available for spectators in the little room was occupied. Attorneys from a distance had come to the city to listen to the arguments. The defence had a corps of the brightest legal minds to be obtained in court. At its head were John G. Johnson, John G. Millburn and D. T. Watson. On the government's side there were Atty. Wickersham and Frank B. Kellogg, who has fought the case from the first.

Long before the court took its place on the bench at 12 o'clock, the 60 or so seats provided for spectators were filled, and a long line had formed outside the courtroom of persons hoping that something would call the early arrivals away. They remained there through the routine business of the day, such as the announcing of decisions, the admissions of members of the bar and the receiving of motions, waiting for the opening of the big case of the day.

PACKERS ORDERED TO PRODUCE BOOKS

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE ENLISTED MEN

Washington, March 16.—The naval authorities are again giving their attention to the question of increasing the percentage of long service men in the enlisted force. The small proportion of those who re-enlist is such as to cause much apprehension.

Under existing conditions the navy has simply become a huge training school. The enlisted personnel of every ship is made up of men of little experience, the great majority of whom are in their first term of enlistment. An enlisted man must serve thirty years to be retired. There are numerous cases where men wish to re-enlist, but they cannot be accepted on account of a defect which is not attributable to service, and accordingly fails to obtain for them a pension. It has been suggested that a system of graduated retirement would be of advantage in this particular. Men could be transferred to the retired list, after certain periods of service at various percentages of active pay.

In that way there would be an inducement to serve the full period, for if something occurred by which retirement would be necessary before the thirty years had expired the man would not be put out of service with little or no chance to make a living. Those who are interested in the welfare of the navy cannot escape the conviction that this question of doing something to induce continuous service is quite as important in its way as the provision for new battleships.

Another proof, more evidence, Portsmouth testimony to swell the long list of local people who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convincing endorsement of that remarkable preparation:

George S. Chandler, 61 Pleasant Street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I do a great deal of walking in my work and in this way my kidneys became weakened, causing me intense suffering. About three years ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They cured me of kidney complaint and I have had little trouble of the kind since. Sometimes when I overwork or do any heavy lifting, I notice a slight lameness in my back, but on such occasions a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills bring me the desired relief. I have recommended this excellent remedy to many of my friends and in each case where it has been tried, benefit has followed. Doan's Kidney Pills can be procured at Philbrick's Drug Store and should be given a thorough trial by every kidney sufferer."

ROOSEVELT JOINED BY HIS FAMILY

Given Great Ovation On His Arrival From Hunting Trip.

Khartum, March 15.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his party arrived here Monday afternoon. The ex-President of the United States received a most flattering reception.

The steambot Dal, upon which the American members of the Smithsonian African scientific expedition made the trip from Gondokoro, was delayed somewhat by the unusually turbulent waters of the White Nile, but the party was able to keep within one hour of the schedule time for the arrival here.

Edward Day of the staff of the Siridar Maj. Gen. Sir Frances Wingate had proceeded up the river in a launch to meet the Dal and extended the first formal greeting to the distinguished visitor. The officials were taken on board the steambot and escorted their guest into the town.

When the Dal was sighted, the American, British and Egyptian flags could be made out flying above the vessel. As the sturdy craft, puffing and blowing, turned her nose into the harbor, the thousands on shore were quick to recognize the figure of Col. Roosevelt, dressed in khaki hunting suit and wore a white helmet. Surrounding him were the members of the Siridar's staff.

Recognition of the American was the signal for a burst of cheering that continued as the vessel slowly found her pier. Col. Roosevelt acknowledged the greeting, raising his hat repeatedly and smiling in the best of good nature.

A steam launch filled with newspaper correspondents, who had been sent here from all parts of the world, accompanied the Dal in the last several miles of the trip.

ADVOCATED SALE OF OLD CRUISERS

Washington, March 15.—Secretary Meyer advocates the sale of many of the old cruisers and naval yachts. In order that the money required for their maintenance may be utilized in the repair and upkeep of newer and more serviceable vessels. The cruiser Detroit is mentioned as one of the vessels that could be disposed of to the profit of the navy. She has been out of commission for several years because she is too expensive to run. At the instance of the secretary of the navy the general board is preparing a list of vessels that have outlived their usefulness for naval purposes. Legislation will be necessary for the sale of any of these vessels.

"I believe," said Secretary Meyer to the House naval committee a few days ago, "it would be a great saving of money if Congress would authorize the sale of a great many of our smaller vessels—cruisers, yachts, etc. I find that the expenditure of the appropriation for repairs which was made last year shows that a very small proportion went for tugs, yachts and cruisers. It seems to me that it would be wise for the department to have a sale of vessels such as England had a few years ago, when she courageously condemned a lot of vessels and sold them. It is like a man who goes into his park and has the courage to cut down a good many inferior trees in order that the better ones may develop, be fine specimens, and not a drain on the resources of the soil. We must show some courage in approaching this question and condemn a lot of rickety vessels, on which we are lavishing money needlessly as well as extravagantly."

ORDERED REPAIRS ON OCEAN BOULEVARD

Hons. Alonzo M. Fess of Dover, Henry W. Boutwell of Manchester, James C. Fellows of Pembroke and Lyford A. Merrow of Ossipee, with State Engineer Harry C. Hill made a tour of the ocean boulevard from Portsmouth to the state line on Saturday, and following the inspection of the damage wrought by the Christmas storm, the state engineer was ordered to make all necessary repairs immediately.

At Odorine's Point the work will include the removal of the sand and beach stones washed up by the waves and the regrading of the surface for a distance of about 400 feet. A dry stone wall about 200 feet in length protecting the roadway will also have to be rebuilt.

At Wallis Sands and from there to the Farragut house, the work will be about the same as at Odorine's Point, the removal of sand and beach stones and the regrading of a few short sections.

South of the Farragut house and near the Hobbs cottage, the roadway for about 500 feet was all washed away and will have to be rebuilt.

At Little Bog's Head the wooden bulkhead 600 feet in length, went out, carrying the roadway with it. The bulkhead will be replaced by a structure of concrete, plans for which had persons who M. Duez, the embezzling auditor of the properties of the religious orders, declares he received hush money from him, promises to play in the present scandal a part similar to that of the famous check-book of M. Thieret, which served to compromise so many French politicians in the Panama canal affair.

None of the names from this code list has yet been published.

The journal claims to possess proof that all of Duez's operations were tainted with fraud and collusion. The paper says that establishments worth $400,000 were sold for $30,000, while some were leased for a period of thirty years under private understandings by which Duez was to receive large annual rake-offs.

BRAZILIAN SHIPS NOT FOR SALE

She Reiterates That New Dreadnoughts are for Her Defence.

Since Brazil laid down her naval program for first-class battleships there have persistent rumors that she intended to sell the ships when completed. Commander W. S. Sims nearly two years ago received a confidential message that the ships were to be sold to Japan. The fact that Commander Sims was the naval aid to Mr. Roosevelt led to continued talk and much gossip about the Brazilian plans. The Brazilian embassy steadfastly denied that the ships were to be sold, and continues the denials. The ships, they say are for Brazil. Argentina's concern over the Brazilian navy program is well understood, although Argentina now, with her new 28,000-ton Dreadnought is about to balance the South American naval power.

A MYSTERY SOLVED

Eczema Not a Blood Disease--New Remedy for Every Skin Trouble

For years the medical profession has been seeking a cure for Eczema, the most common and most stubborn of skin diseases. Some said it was a blood disease; some said it was the result of indigestion. It remained for one studious chemist to settle beyond any question that eczema in all its forms is a skin disease and related in no way to a disordered condition of the blood. This same chemist experimented with many antiseptic, healing and soothing agents, but it was not until he formed the compound Cadum that he at last realized that he had given to the world something that would bring relief or cure to millions of sufferers. Cadum ranks today with the great discoveries of the medical world. Its action is so positive that the itching of eczema is stopped immediately. People who have itched and scratched for years find sleep and rest as soon as Cadum is used, and in ordinary cases a complete restoration of the skin to a healthy condition is reached in two or three weeks. The soothing, healing efforts of Cadum are almost instantaneous. Cadum is sold at all druggists. Trial box 10c; large box 25c. The small box is sufficient for trial purposes, and may be used not only for eczema in all its forms, but also for bites, pimples, scorchings, tetter, itch, acne, herpes, scaly skin, rash, psoriasis, ringworm, chaffing, eruptions, sores, scabs, itching piles, scurvy, etc.
